HISTORY

NAMED FOR TWO FARMS.

- Developer F. C. Abbott combined the names of two former owners, Wilson and Moore
- Abbott's company published the plat of Wilmore in 1914
- The first bungalows went up in the late 1910s, and the neighborhood took shape in the 1920s

GOLD RUSH

BUILT ON GOLD-RUSH GROUND.

- Wilmore grew on farmland and the land around the Rudisill Gold Mine
- The Rudisill was one of the most productive mines of the country's first gold rush
- Mint Street was built to link the mines with the Mint on West Trade Street

STREET PLAN

A GRID, THEN CURVES.

- The 1914 plan set straight streets near the railroad and curving streets past Mint Street
- West Park, West Kingston, West Boulevard and West Worthington echo Dilworth's street names
- Spruce Street, Dunkirk Drive and Merriman Avenue curve over a hillcrest toward Irwin Creek

ARCHITECTURE

BUNGALOWS WITH FULL-WIDTH PORCHES.

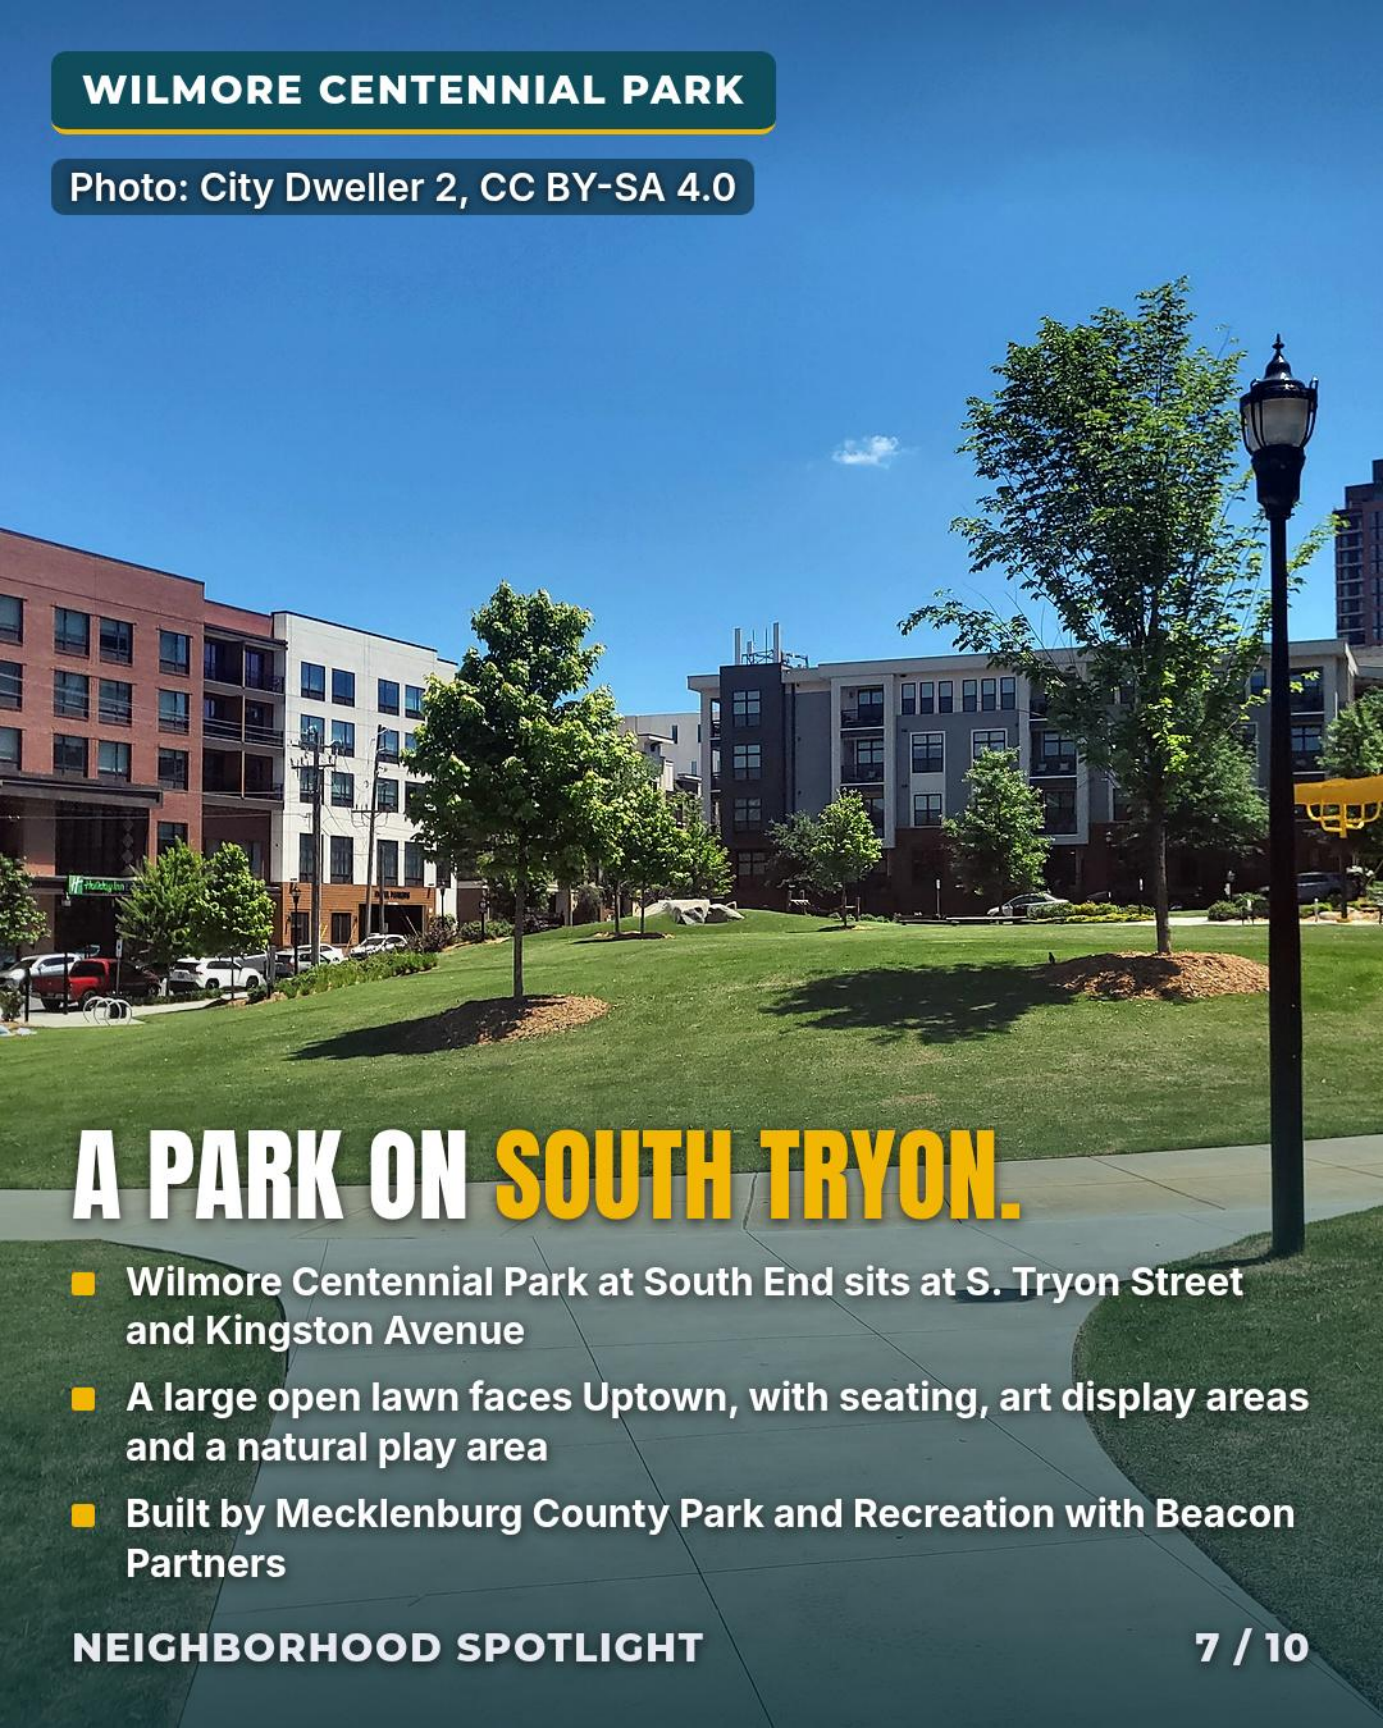

- Most buildings are Bungalow style, with low overhanging roofs, full-width front porches and Craftsman details
- A wide range of styles and materials overall
- Mainly single-family homes, plus duplexes, apartment buildings and commercial buildings

HISTORIC DISTRICT

PLAN EXTERIOR CHANGES EARLY.

- Wilmore is one of Charlotte's eight Local Historic Districts, designated in 2010
- Exterior changes, including windows, doors, fencing and tree removal, need Historic District Commission approval
- That approval, a Certificate of Appropriateness, comes before any work begins

WILMORE CENTENNIAL PARK

A PARK ON SOUTH TRYON.

- Wilmore Centennial Park at South End sits at S. Tryon Street and Kingston Avenue
- A large open lawn faces Uptown, with seating, art display areas and a natural play area
- Built by Mecklenburg County Park and Recreation with Beacon Partners

LYNX BLUE LINE

LIGHT RAIL NEXT DOOR.

- Wilmore's eastern edge follows Camden Road and the rail line
- Blue Line stations: Bland St. (1511 Camden Rd.) and East/West Blvd. (1821 Camden St.)
- The line runs north through Uptown to UNC Charlotte and south to I-485/South Blvd.

MY RECOMMENDATION

LET'S WALK IT TOGETHER.

Ride the Blue Line to East/West Blvd., then let's compare bungalows on the straight streets with homes on the curving ones. Planning exterior changes? We'll check the historic district rules first.
