
SELLER TIPS
SELLING? STAY STEADY.
UNDER CONTRACT? HERE'S WHAT'S NEXT.
An accepted offer is a big step, not the finish line
The buyer still has steps to finish, and so do you
Here's what I recommend you keep in mind

DEADLINES

KNOW EVERY DATE.

- Put each contract deadline on your calendar the day you sign
- In NC, note the due diligence date your contract lists
- Ask what each date means for you before it arrives

REPAIRS
REPAIR REQUESTS ARE NEGOTIATED.
After inspections, a buyer may ask for repairs or a price change
You can agree, decline or counter
Put anything you agree to in writing
SELLER TIPS
4 / 10

CONDITION

KEEP IT AS IT WAS.

- Your contract may require the home to be in substantially the same condition at closing, reasonable wear and tear excepted
- Keep up the yard, systems and routine care
- If something breaks, tell your agent right away

NORTH CAROLINA

NC: SOMETHING CHANGED?

- Find a material inaccuracy in a disclosure statement you delivered? Promptly give the buyer a corrected statement
- The same applies if an event makes a statement inaccurate in a material way (G.S. 47E-7)

SOUTH CAROLINA

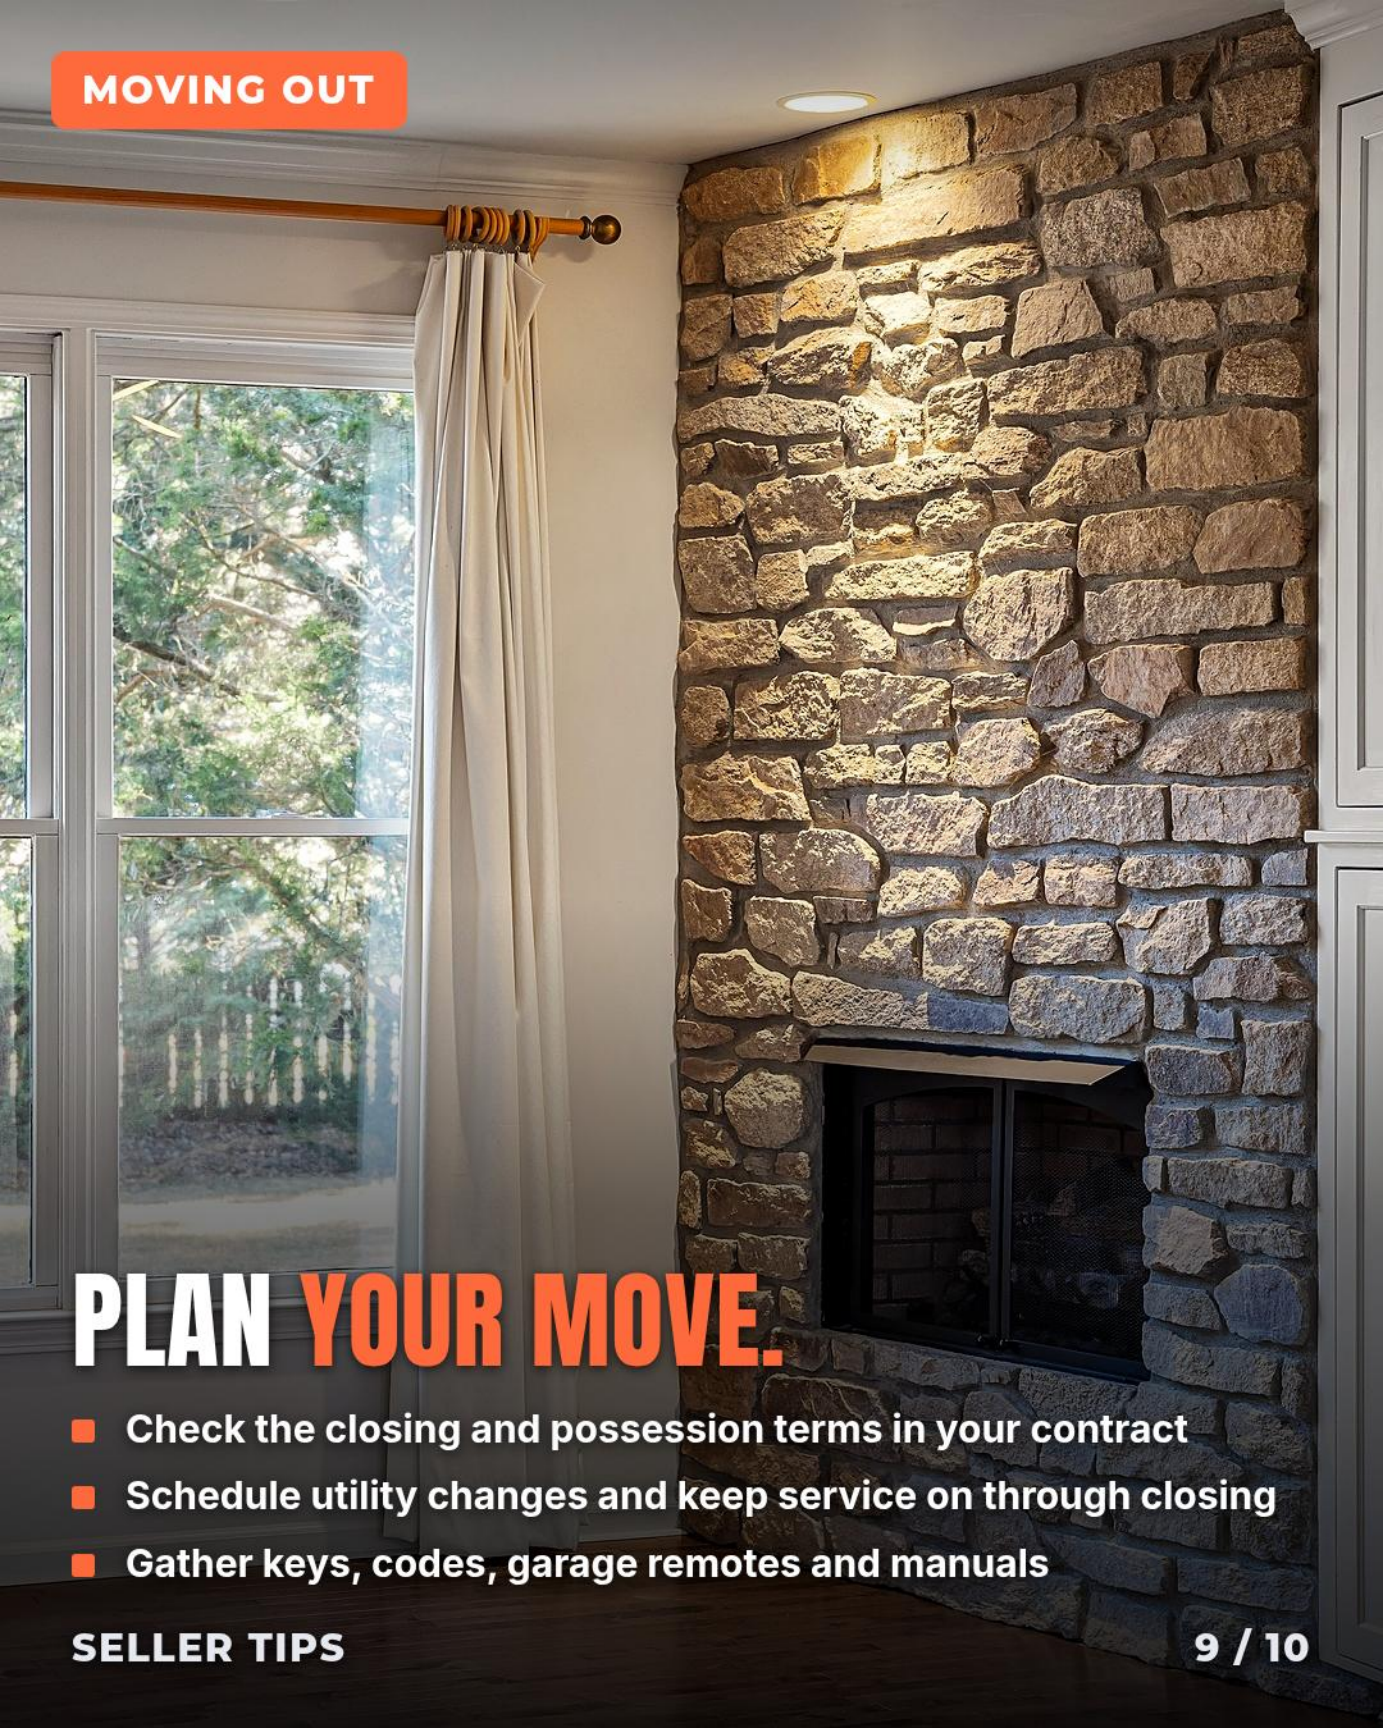

SC: KEEP DISCLOSURES CURRENT.

- The disclosure statement goes to the buyer before the contract is signed, or as the contract says (S.C. Code 27-50-50)
- Find a material inaccuracy later? Promptly deliver a corrected statement or make reasonable repairs before closing (S.C. Code 27-50-60)

PROTECT YOUR PROCEEDS.

- Treat any email that changes wiring instructions with caution
- Confirm by calling a number you already know, not one in the email
- Talk with your closing attorney before you share bank details

MOVING OUT

PLAN YOUR MOVE.

- Check the closing and possession terms in your contract
- Schedule utility changes and keep service on through closing
- Gather keys, codes, garage remotes and manuals

MY RECOMMENDATION

STEADY TO CLOSING DAY.

I recommend we walk through your contract dates together the day it's signed, because each one shapes your next step. For legal or tax questions, talk with a real estate attorney or tax professional.
